FOREWORD

"THE WORLD IS AS WE ARE"

- His Holiness MAHARISHI MAHESH YOGIJI

In a rapid changing and globalized world full of struggles, challenges and competition, the need of the hour is to celebrate and promote humanness for respect and mutual understanding in all. An Individual who is guided by compassion, empathy, integrity, loyalty, cooperation, patience and preserving a positive attitude, embedded deeply in the formative years at the subconscious level builds the quality of being humane – having a deep sense of shared humanity and well being.

To become a responsible human being, moral and ethical principles should be transmitted to the young minds generation wise, through the age old practices and customs which provides a moral compass for proper behavior pattern and helps in better decision making, throughout the journey of life. It is the prime duty of the parents, elders and teachers to play a key role in shaping virtues in deeper understanding of the rituals, stories and epics of our glorious past, narratives from great leaders and their deeds to show and lead by example. Celebrating Humanness- is the reminder to every human to progress unhindered with resilience. Marching ahead to achieve with core values learnt from instructions and observations that leads to perfect destination. Our present generation should cultivate the ability to understand and manage their own emotions as of others with adequate guidance from lifeskills and value education imparted from time to time.

Let us affirm the fact that more than the Self, we can be accommodative and build trust in fostering positive relationship with others.

As we nurture the Individual consciousness which in turn influences the Collective consciousness of the Society.

Celebrating Humaneness

Celebrating Humaneness
To be human is a gift so true,
It starts with me, and lives in you!
We hold the weight, we bear the pain,
We laugh too loud, we cry too long.
Just the timeless pulse of Human Heart!!
No perfect mold, no flawless art,
Dreams that falter, still choose to live!
Together here, our voices blend,
Together in kindness, our school stands,
Lives humaneness- Our greatest seed!!

M. Siddarth III A9

We laugh, we sing, we dance around,
Our heart makes music a joyful sound.
We share our toys, we share our smile,
Being kind makes life worthwhile.
We all are different yet the same,
Every person has a name,
Helping hands and caring too.
So, let's be gentle, brave and true,
Celebrate the things we do.
Being human is a gift we share,
Full of love that is everywhere!

R. Aadvik IV A4

Let the world live in harmony
With humanness as the symphony
No one is perfect human
But we all are beautifully human
So do not fight or resist anyone
But just accept and embrace everyone
Hope we can all attain this insight
To keep our earth
shining bright.

T.J. Raghunanthan III A8

MY FRIEND

My friend, a star that shines so bright,
He is the one who brings me light.
We laugh and play the whole day through,
Together there is nothing we cannot do.
I play games and sing songs,
While my friend cheers along.
His laughter is a melody that makes the darkness cease,
In his kind company I find perfect peace.

K. Advaith III A5

HUMANENESS EXISTS

On a scorching summer weekend
With abundant self-time to expend
Felt gentle breeze thro' the windows
And pleasant to see the lush green meadows!
Downpoured an unseasonal rain
Bringing some routinelives to pain.
Terrified Was I, by a loud sound, dumbfound
To see a young callow ground-bound!
Entwined by the electric dischargethro'
the suspendedcord
Writhing in agony and stymied like board
Prayers poured in from people around
To rescuethe tormenting soul on the ground!
While some drenched digitally intoxicated
Capturing the woeful scene unstimulated!
Flashed in a human angel from nowhere
Unsnarledthe cords and eased the affair!
Heaved to infirmary as an arrow from bow
Heavy as a rock it felt within me now!
Enigmatic notionsencircled my curiousity
While a celestial voice reverberated 'Humaneness still exists amidst Animosity'

THE BOY WHO FOUND A HOME

In the colony of Kodambakkam, there lived a 17-year-old boy named Sam. Sam was an orphan who lost his parents because of a flood that occurred when he was 10. Sam's siblings were adopted but he wanted to live in his parent's house and carry on their legacy. He took care of the house and lived alone. Even though his relatives paid his bills and school fees Sam always felt lonely. He used to see the children play in the streets, remembering the happy days with his parents and siblings.

One day at school, Sam puked several times and he was taken to the hospital. They found out that Sam was infected with rare disease. Insisting that he was alright, Sam went home and laid down. The school informed his neighbours and the next moment his neighbours came to his house to help him. When Sam woke up, he saw the old woman from the house next door sitting near his bed giving him tepid sponging. He saw the middle age man whose house is opposite to his, cleaning Sam's house. The young woman from the house upstairs, was cooking dinner and her elder brother brought medicine. The kids were preparing "Get Well Soon" card. At this time, Sam realised that his neighbours who had come to his aid, were the family he had been missing all along. At dinner, they all sat together, sharing memories and listening to stories. That night before sleeping Sam for the first time in years smiled knowing that his neighbours are always there for him and closed his eyes.

LOST PUPPY

One evening, Sanjiv found a little puppy crying near the park. It was wet and hungry. Sanjiv gently picked it up and gave it some milk. He made a small bed for it in a box and took care of it until it became strong again.

Moral: kindness makes the world a better place for everyone.

HUMANENESS AT EVERY MOMENT OF LIFE

It was a pleasant spring morning, and there was a delightful aroma of succulent guava fruits emanating from the garden. Little girl Kirti desired to pick some of the fruits to distribute some among her fellow classmates. She picked a large basket to harvest some of the guavas from the garden to fulfil her mission.

She felt immense pleasure watching the mother bird feed her babies at the nest. As she picked some of the fruits, her friend Sofia called for her help to fix a problem with her cycle horn. Sofia wanted to try some of the just picked, juicy guavas. Kirti helped Sofia fix the cycle horn and handed out the rest of the fruits from the basket.

Unexpectedly, they heard a distressed sound coming from the young bird, which descended from its nest. Kirti and her friend rushed to the spot and set about searching for the parent bird.

Kirti queried, "Where is the mother bird?"

"Sofia opined that she might have left to forage for food for the fledglings."

Kirti remarked, "Here she approaches; let us attempt to place the baby bird back to the nest where she rightfully belongs, but how shall we accomplish this?"

Sofia expressed concern, stating, "I'm afraid the nest is too high to place her back."

Kirti got an idea to use the bicycle to reach the nest and safely placed the baby bird back into the nest.

Kirti and Sofia were very happy to serve and thrilled to watch the mother bird flutter its wings.

HOW WOULD I LIKE TO SPEND MY HOLIDAYS?

Having lived in the city environment all along, I would like to spend my holidays in a place which is close to nature. The place should be a nature's heaven. It should be a place with least pollution-clean air, clean water and noise-free environment. It should have rivers, water falls, sandy areas etc. I want to stay in a house surrounded by tall trees, where I can have birds chirping in the morning. I would like to spend my time with cows, hens and sheep in the surrounding fields. I would like to eat organic foods grown in that area. Finally, I would like to spend my time with my family at night in a clam and relaxing environment.

My dream is that our entire earth becomes so eco-friendly that such a life will become a daily living reality for all of us.

SPIRIT OF HUMANITY

The world can be busy, loud and fast,
With moments that don't last.
But kindness stays, it never fades,
It shines in all the love we've made.

Being Human means doing our part,
By showing the world a big heart.
It's standing up and reaching out,
That's what life is about.

So let's be kind in all we do,
Because the world needs me and you.
When we choose love and gentleness,
We're truly celebrating humaneness.

WHERE SIMPLE ACTIONS CREATE LASTING HARMONY

“What makes us truly human is not wealth or power; but the kindness we show to others”.
Often humaneness appears in simple actions, helping a classmate, comforting a friend, sharing food or caring for the environment. Though small, these gestures create a ripple effect of positivity that touches many lives. Such acts strengthen friendships and build peaceful communities. True happiness is found in not only material possessions but in the joy of giving and caring. Every act of kindness, no matter how small, brightens the world and inspires others. Let us all practice and celebrate humaneness in our life.
“HUMANENESS IS THE BRIDGE THAT CONNECTS HEARTS AND BUILD HARMONY”

EMBRACING OUR IMPERFECTIONS

The pursuit of perfection is less a noble quest and more of a reminder of human limits, a simple truth that contrasts sharply with a world that constantly demands flawless performance and perfect success.We compare ourselves with this façade and obsess over how we want others to perceive us, such comparisons constantly reminds us that our best is simply not enough. and yet, people don't seem to give up on their hunt for perfectionism. Imperfections are an inherent attribute that everybody possesses. It is not a flaw and certainly not a weakness, it is simply an element of human nature. When we accept our inherent fallibility, we learn from our errors and evolve into an individual that makes us endearingly human. After all, imperfections are what makes us truly human. They are not a weakness to overcome but rather a stepping stone for development and self growth. In embracing them, we turn our imperfections into a journey of personal growth and advancement, regardless of the setbacks you may encounter.

भलमनसाहत

" भलमनसाहत" जीवन की वह कला है,
जिसमें-
हाथ छूटे भी तो रिश्ते नहीं
छोड़ा करते हैं
साथ छूटे भी तो साथ नहीं
छोड़ा करते हैं
वक्त के डाल से लम्हों को नहीं
तोड़ा करते हैं।
ज़ख्म देने वाले, दिल के रुख
को तोड़ा करते हैं
पर यारों की यारी का शहद
जीवन को जोड़ा करते हैं,

जिन्दगी के सफर में, अनजान
बहुत आया-जाया करते हैं,
कोई हक नहीं है हमारा, उन पर फिर भी
हम हक जमाया करते हैं,
है तो लोग अनजान फिर भी,
हम दिल से दिल मिलाया करते हैं,
कोई रिश्ता नहीं उन से पर फिर भी
सुख-दुख हम बाँटा करते हैं।

CELEBRATING THE HUMANENESS

Once upon a time, a small boy walked barefoot through a crowded street, carrying his only pair of shoes in his hands. He spotted an elderly man struggling to cross a puddle, his shoes soaked. Without hesitation, the boy handed the shoes to the man and smiled before continuing his walk. In that fleeting moment, I saw the essence of humaneness: compassion that asks for nothing in return.

Humaneness is not measured by titles, wealth or achievements; it is felt in small, selfless acts. It glows when neighbours share food with the hungry, when children plant trees for a world they never see, or when strangers risk their safety to save a life. These moments, quiet yet profound, are the heartbeat of humanity.

Celebrating humaneness means choosing empathy over indifference, unity over division and hope over despair. It is a daily decision to care, to forgive, to include and to uplift.

Being human is a birthright. Being human is a legacy. Let us celebrate it – not just in words, but in every act that leaves a mark of kindness in the world.

THE SKY NEVER RUNS DRY

Love and kindness are not treasures to be hoarded. To celebrate humaneness is to give without measure, like clouds, we remain full only when we pour ourselves with no expectations. After all, why measure, what was meant to overflow ?

My dear,
Pour as the rain does—endlessly, tenderly, without a word.
Do not wait for the earth to lift her eyes to you,
for the rain does not ask to be seen,
and yet it falls, again and again,
because giving is its nature, not its bargain.
Let your kindness spill the way clouds surrender their weight—not measured, not hesitant, not paused for gratitude.
For the truth is this—
the earth may crack with thirst,
but the sky… the sky is never without water.
So give without the fear of emptiness,
give without the need to return.
You will never run out,
because love, like the rain,
is not lost when given—
it becomes the very reason the sky is alive.

इंसानियत का उत्सव

एक इंसान होने का मतलब मूल्य असल में है क्या? क्या एक इंसान होना सिर्फ सांस लेना होता है? या चलना? बोलना? या फिर वह वो दूसरों के प्रति भावनाएँ हैं जो हम गहराई से. निस्वार्थ तरीके से और दयालु बनकर महसूस करते हैं? इंसानियत एक अदृश्य प्रेम रूपी धागा है जो रोशनी बन हमारी ज़िंदगी के अंधेरों को उज्ज्वलित कर देता है। इंसानियत का उत्सव बनाना प्यार, सहानुभूति और सुंदरता का उत्सव मनाने जैसा होता है वे ही सारे गुण जो हमें एक इंसान का दर्जा देते हैं।

हम एक ऐसे दौर में जी रहे हैं जिसमें यंत्र सोच सकते हैं. सूचनाओं का प्रचार रोशनी की गति से भी तेज़ हो सकता है और जहाँ एक इंसान हमेशा किसी जल्दी में होता है, हमेशा किसी चीज़ को चाहता है। फिर भी इन सबके बावजूद मानव जाति को एक और, सिर्फ एक चीज़ की सबसे ज़्यादा ज़रूरत है- इंसानियत । एक नादान मुस्कराहट किसी अनजान का दिन बना सकती है, एक सहायता रूपी हाथ किसी की मदद कर सकता है यही होती है इंसानियत। यह एक ऐसी चीज़ है जो पैसों या दौलत से नहीं, बल्कि रिश्तों से गहरी होती है। यह वह क्षमता है जो किसी के टूटे दिल को संभाल सकती है। हम एक मतलबी दुनिया में जीते हैं और ऐसी दुनिया में जब भी हम अच्छाई को चुनते हैं, हम इंसानियत का उत्सव मनाते हैं।

दुनियादारी और सफलता पाने की दौड़ में हम अक्सर भूल जाते हैं कि इंसानियत या मनुष्यता होती क्या है। मनुष्यता हमें याद दिलाती है कि एक इंसान कभी भी अचूक नहीं रह सकता। गलती करना जायज है, परन्तु वह हमें सिखाती है कि दूसरों के प्रति हमारा प्यार हमेशा स्वार्थरहित रखना चाहिए। इंसानियत एक ऐसा वस्त्र नहीं है जिसे हम पहनते हैं यह एक जीने का माध्यम है। यह कभी दिखावे के लिए नहीं, बल्कि दूसरों की भलाई के लिए दर्शाई जाती है। यह हमेशा बड़े त्याग से नहीं, बल्कि छोटी-छोटी चीज़ों में झलकती है।

इंसानियत रंग, भाषा या फिर किसी के दर्जे के बारे में नहीं है; वह उस भावना के बारे में है जो हमें यह एहसास दिलाती है कि हम सब एक ही आसमान, एक ही पानी और सिर्फ एक ही आशा रखते हैं। इंसानियत साल में एक बार मनाने वाला त्योहार नहीं बल्कि वह. वेह उत्सव है जिसे हमें रोज़ मनाना चाहिए। यह वह चीज़ है जो हमारी ज़िंदगी में रोशनी लाती है। इस त्योहार को मनाने के लिए न सजावट की ज़रूरत है. न मिठाइयों की बस एक अच्छे दिल की। तो आओ, खुद से वादा करें कि हम और अधिक प्रेम, करुणा, दया और दान देंगे। और उत्सव मनाएँ, न केवल अपनी उपलब्धियों का, बल्कि अपनी सहानुभूति महसूस करने की काबिलियत का। आखिर में, यह दुनिया हमें अपने वेतन से नहीं, बल्कि हमारे दान से याद रखेगी।

यही मानवता का उत्सव मनाने का वास्तविक अर्थ है। आइए, हम मानवता की इस ज्योति को प्रज्जवलित रखने का वादा करें।

LITTLE THINGS THAT HEAL...

The baby's cute smile ,
Fades sorrows to a mile

Stars twinkling in the lonely sky,
Which quells my cry

Rain hits the dry ground,
A rich petichor profound

Sound of thunder deep and loud,
Kindles my courage in crowd

The silver moon which shines soft,
Makes me calm and aloft

The wind wafts slow
Whispering times i was low

The bird's joyful song
Makes me feel that i belong

The rythm of music creates fine art
And soothes pain in heart

Instead of making moutain out of molehill,
Why not,nurture small things around and let them instill
